

Save the date...

From 29 November to 2 December 2016, in Lyons:
27th edition of POLLUTEC

From 29 November to 2 December next the 27th edition of POLLUTEC – the great biennial exhibition dedicated to environmental innovation - is being held in Lyons.

Over 40 years the event has become a veritable marketplace representative of the changes in the environment sector. Initially directed at the Water and Waste industries, POLLUTEC gradually opened up to all the markets linked to the treatment of pollution and the preservation of the environment.

For this new edition, no less than 100,000 professionals are expected to come to Eurexpo to discover the various stands and pavilions covering 8 major sectors: « Waste and material recovery », « Water and waste water », « Energy », « Instrumentation, metrology and automation », « Air », « Risks », « Sites, soils and responsible purchases » and « CSR ». No less than 200 innovations will moreover be presented there for the first time in Europe or the world.

Lastly, as every year, POLLUTEC will propose a series of « Focuses » in order to inform about the changes to regulations, laws or standards. The 2016 edition will thus give pride of place to 5 areas of application: « The sustainable town », « The industry of the future », « The ocean, aquatic and shore environments », « Agriculture » and lastly « Hospitals and sustainable development ».

Find all this information on the event's website: <http://www.pollutec.com>

Back to the European Energy Transition Conference website