

It's new!

The official website of the European Energy Transition Conference has been given a facelift!

You have probably noticed that the website of the European Energy Transition Conference closed down on 20 September and now displays a timer. The reason for this is quite simple: the website is undergoing a complete transformation and will welcome you on a new interface at the end of the countdown, i.e. 15 October next. In a bilingual version, this new website dedicated to the event will propose intuitive navigation and an enriched content.
